Stevens County Advisory Boards

More than 20 citizen advisory committees and boards help shape Stevens County's future. From wildlife and land management to healthcare and equalizing property assessments, these groups provide advice on policies and allocation of funds to county departments and the Board of Stevens County Commissioners. To learn more about the work of any of the groups, contact the staff person. If you're interested in serving on a committee or board, complete the form below and submit to Polly Coleman in the Stevens County Commissioners' Office; 215 South Oak St., Colville, WA 99114 or commissioners@stevenscountywa.us
Please indicate the committee or board that you have interest.
